MEDIA RELEASE

CITT Announces Reposition 2010 Learning Sessions

For Immediate Release:

TORONTO, May 13 / CITT has finalized its conference lineup for Reposition 2010 - the national symposium for supply chain and logistics professionals - to be held in Vancouver from Oct. 27-29.

Stepping Up: Next Level Leadership for Supply Chain Professionals will feature the following learning sessions.

Port Metro Vancouver Harbour Tour

Port Metro Vancouver serves as Canada's gateway for domestic and international trade and tourism. Conference delegates will take a 1.5 hour tour around Burrard Inlet that will include a water-side view of major marine terminals along the South and North Shore of the Inlet. Participants will have the opportunity to see bulk, breakbulk, container and cruise terminals as well as on-dock rail facilities.

Legal Road Map for Carriers, Shippers and Others – A technical update

Knowing something about the law as it pertains to supply chain and logistics can be a valuable asset. It can save you time and save your company money. Presented by two Partners from Miller Thomson LLP, Legal Road Map is a three-part technical update will cover key legal issues that impact how you should be doing business.

Procurement and Supply Chain – Building stronger core competencies

Companies are struggling with the demands of today's business environment. Supply chain management has been identified as an important resource in overcoming these challenges. Procurement and Supply Chain is an interactive workshop that will provide insights into how the roles are interconnected and will help to identify the skill sets future supply chain leaders will need.

Why Great Leadership is Beyond Words

Leadership abilities are revealed in many ways. Words alone play only a very small part in establishing positive business relationships. Why Great Leadership is Beyond Words is a scenario based workshop that will focus on the identification of unintended messages and the effect they have on commitment, loyalty and performance.

Closing Ceremonies: Learn from Canada's Olympic Logistics Team

Staging the Winter Olympic Games provided Vancouver with a logistical challenge of almost unimaginable scope. During Closing Ceremonies, delegates will hear from three logistics professionals who all played important parts in the success of the 2010 Winter Games. The presentation will conclude with a Q & A session.
