

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The Canada Logistics Conference 2015 August 10th Early Bird Deadline is Fast Approaching

Toronto, Ontario – July 29, 2015

Canada Logistics Conference—the nation’s annual thought leadership conference for all supply chain logistics professionals, hosted by CITT—will take place October 25-27 in Niagara Falls. But an important earlier date to be aware of is August 10, which is the final day delegates can take advantage of Early Bird rates. Professionals who plan on attending are encouraged to secure their spot at the preferential rate and book their accommodations well in advance due to the conference’s popularity. “Canada Logistics Conference has been getting bigger and bigger every year” reported CITT President Catherine Viglas, “And once again this year, we could very well see our biggest conference ever. Early registrations have been pouring in even faster than last year, which was our biggest conference to date. And we expect even more as the Early Bird deadline approaches.”

Following on the heels of last year’s successful conference in Calgary, Canada Logistics Conference 2015 will feature seven learning sessions hand-picked to address burning issues in the sector. Sessions include an important, up-to-the-minute Canadian Regulatory Primer, a high-powered executive panel on The ‘Mature’ Supply Chain, and a logistics-focused 2016 Economic Outlook to equip delegates with insights to succeed in the coming year and beyond. Details of the full program including speaker bios are available at www.CITT.ca/conference

The agenda for Canada Logistics Conference 2015 also includes many dedicated networking opportunities for shippers, carriers, and ancillary service providers across sectors. “What makes the big influx of delegates so exciting” Viglas said “is that it means the popular networking events like the Opening Reception and the Gala Awards Evening will be very well-attended, giving attendees an incredible opportunity to talk shop, make new connections, and catch up with former colleagues. We can’t wait to welcome the Canadian supply chain logistics community this fall.”

Canada Logistics Conference 2015 will run from October 25-27th at the Hilton Hotel and Suites at Niagara Falls, Ontario. Registration is available at the Early Bird rate until August 10th. Learn more at www.CITT.ca/conference
